

When will I get MARRIED?

Toby Lieder

Disillusioned

Frustrated

Emotionally Drained

THE CHALLENGE

Some singles have been struggling for years in the search for their soulmate. Many feel disheartened, miserable, lost and very confused, and extremely hopeless about meeting Mr./ Mrs. Right, while their friends are happily married and settled.

GIVING UP

While some blame the system, others are crying in desperation, asking what they can do to find their other half. Sleepless nights and worrisome days keep these singles and their parents very concerned and anxious. At times, reach breaking point and cry out, "Why me?!" They repeatedly ask why they are being set up with the wrong people.

MR. PERFECT

When coaching a girl in her late 20s, identifying and analyzing what her possible blockages were, we discovered that she had a very long list of unrealistic qualifications the eligible spouse must meet. She was on a search for Mr. Perfect. She wanted two extreme opposite, conflicting values, such as a very self-disciplined character, but he must also be very easy-going and flexible. He should be very involved in the community, but he must be a family man, spending lots of time with his family! He should be very chassidishe, but would go to the movies with her. I explained to her that she was looking for seven different husbands in one man!

THE SOLUTION

We brainstormed together and worked through a very specific formula which I proudly call the 5 Non- Negotiables. We pinpointed and realized together exactly which core values were extremely important to her and which she was prepared to let go of. This coaching has given her an enormous sense of relief. With this new clarity, she was now able to be more realistic and feel self-assured, and very confident in her search for Mr. Right (not Mr Perfect!).

PREPARING FOR SHIDDUCHIM

Singles that I coach before they start Shidduchim have told me of the tremendous sense of self-awareness they develop through this fundamental coaching system, empowering them with certainty, clarity, and a great sense of confidence, thus preventing wasting unnecessary time and heaps of emotional energy.

SHADCHAN – COACH

Toby Lieder, mother of 14 children, inspirational speaker, teacher and Shidduch Mentor for over 40 years, specializing in coaching singles from around the world, preparing them for their journey of Shidduchim, dating, and engagement, using WhatsApp video or phone. Toby's coaching will help you identify your blind spots and gift you with the benefits of confidence, clarity, perspective & peace of mind.

Website: tobydatingcoach.com

Email: tobydatingcoach@gmail.com

For appointment: WhatsApp/Call +(61) 470 173 916.